* All students must move out of accommodations arranged by Kansai Gaidai by this date.

* No Classes

NOTE: Please be aware that because of the differences in the Japanese academic calendar (which begins in early April) and the American calendar (which the Asian Studies Program observes), from time to time there may be conflicts regarding the use of facilities, etc.
Academic Regulations

1. Registration

   Students are required to register for classes no later than the dates as indicated in the Academic Calendar. A late fee of ¥2,000 will be charged to those who register after this deadline. A late fee of ¥5,000 will be charged to those who register after the first week of classes.

   In order to register for classes, it is mandatory that you finish your necessary payments (or apply for the Student Loan).

2. Credits

   One semester is fifteen weeks long, and includes a half-week orientation program.

   The required Spoken Japanese course carries 5 semester credits, which means five 50-minute class periods per week for fifteen weeks.

   Japanese Reading & Writing course carries 3 semester credits, which means three 50-minute class periods per week for fifteen weeks. However, “Introduction to the Japanese Writing System” is a five-week course and carries 1 semester credit.

   Other non-Japanese language courses carry 3 semester credits and meet for twice a week for fifteen weeks.

3. Requirements

   Students must register for a minimum of 14 semester credits, and may not register for more than 17 semester credits. All students must register for Spoken Japanese.

   Students who plan to enroll in our program for one academic year are strongly advised to register for Japanese Reading & Writing, as well.

   No student is permitted to take the studio art courses at the same time, nor register for an increased load of either one.

4. Changing Courses (Drop/Add)

   To change your registration, submit a PETITION TO CHANGE CURRENT REGISTRATION FORM at the Center for International Education.

   A student may withdraw (drop) from a course (except Spoken Japanese) without academic penalty during the first three (3) weeks. The final date for dropping courses is Monday, February 24.
A student may add course(s) during the first two (2) weeks of the semester. The final date for adding courses is Monday, February 17.

Dropping a course on/before the deadline will leave no record of enrollment on your transcript. However, if a student fails to meet the deadline and/or fails to comply with the official procedure, his/her grade will be "F" in the course.

No petition will be accepted without the signature of the instructor of the course. It is the student's responsibility to see his/her instructor to secure the signature.

Not attending a class does not constitute official withdrawal from the course.

5. Audit

Students may register for a course on an audit basis by obtaining permission from the instructor of the course. Students may not audit Japanese language courses. Registration on an audit basis will not lead to academic credit, nor will it appear on the student's transcript.

Change of registration from audit to credit is permitted only during the period of adding courses.

Change of registration from credit to audit is permitted only during the period of dropping courses.

No changes will be permitted after the periods specified above.

6. Incomplete

An Incomplete grade will be assigned only when illness or other extenuating reasons beyond the control of the student prevent the completion of all course requirements by the end of the semester.

Students who apply for an Incomplete are required to complete a "Contract for the Completion of the Incomplete" form and submit it to the Center for International Education. Please note that any contract without the signature of the course instructor will not be accepted. The completed contract must be submitted to the Center no later than one week prior to the final examination week.

An Incomplete may not be assigned for any Japanese language course. In all other courses, the assignment of an Incomplete must be approved by the course instructor and the Center for International Education.
Academic Regulations

All Incompletes must be removed within six weeks from the end of the semester for which the Incomplete was assigned. Notification of removal will be made by the instructor on the "Removal of Incomplete Grade" form.

A grade of "I" which is not removed during the required period and by the procedure prescribed above will automatically become an "F" on the student's transcript.

No Incomplete is permissible for students applying to extend their stay at Kansai Gaidai into the second semester.

7. Academic Warning

An Academic Warning shall be issued during the semester to students who, in the determination of the instructor, are not making adequate progress in the course and are in danger of receiving a grade of "D" or "F" unless significant improvement is shown before the end of the semester. Student performance will be assessed on the basis of quizzes, reports, mid-term exams, etc. Students receiving an Academic Warning are strongly encouraged to consult with the instructor concerning steps to be taken to meet course standards.

8. Repetition of Courses

If a student wishes to enroll in the second semester, a "D" in a Japanese Language course will require him/her to repeat the course.

9. Independent Study

Independent study is a credit course designed to allow students to investigate an area of interest not within our course offerings or to research more extensively than is possible in a regular course. Students applying for approval of an independent study are expected to have background in the proposed field of study adequate for pursuing work independently, under the supervision of a faculty supervisor. Students should make arrangements with the supervising faculty member before the end of the semester prior to that in which the independent study is to be undertaken.

Independent study will be permitted under the following conditions:

1) A project that the student wishes to study is not offered in a regular course.

2) Only those students who have completed one semester at Kansai Gaidai will be permitted to undertake an Independent Study during their second semester of residence.

3) Independent study projects cannot be arranged for Japanese language courses.
4) In principle, a student may receive credit for only one independent study course in a given semester.

5) It is the student's sole responsibility to meet with the instructor who will supervise the study in the area of his/her interest. Thus we suggest that the student start making plans and contacting the instructor well in advance.

6) If there is any reason to believe that credit for an independent study project may not be accepted by the student's home institution, it is the student's sole responsibility to contact the proper authorities at that institution for clarification.

Proposals for Independent Study

1) Independent study requires a thorough description of the work to be undertaken. Therefore, it is essential to plan well in advance of registration.

2) Students are required to complete the "Application for Enrollment in Independent Study Program," in which they should outline the study topic, specifications of the work to be done, materials to be used, and a statement of the evaluative criteria to be used by the instructor.

3) The deadline for the application for independent study is Tuesday, February 4. A complete application, including a signature from your faculty supervisor, must be submitted no later than the deadline. Since registration for independent study is based on permission from the faculty and the Dean, students are advised to register for four other courses by the end of the registration period, and drop one course (if you wish) when you are granted permission for an independent study course. Please carefully note that no application for independent study will be accepted after the deadline (i.e. The add period will not apply to independent study courses.). Application forms are available at the office.

10. Examinations

Mid-term examinations will be given during regular class periods as specified in the course syllabus for each semester. There will be a separate schedule for final examinations. The specific schedule will be announced early in the semester. Examinations will not be given outside the regular exam schedule, and thus will not be changed according to individual student's convenience.

11. Attendance

Students are expected to attend all class meetings in which they are enrolled. Specific attendance requirements will be individually established by instructors. Excessive absences may result in low grades and subsequent denial of approval to re-enroll.
12. Grading System

The grading scale will be as follows:

- A: Highest Level of Attainment
- B: High Level of Attainment
- C: Adequate Level of Attainment
- D: Minimal Passing Level
- F: Failed, No Credit
- I: Incomplete
- W: Withdrawal

W (Withdrawal) may be granted only when a student must withdraw from a course because of extenuating circumstances. This must be approved by the Dean of the Center for International Education.

Grades combine the results of course work, mid-term and/or final examinations, quizzes and class participation. The Pass-Fail system or Credit - No Credit system is not used at Kansai Gaidai.

13. Transcript

One copy of the student's transcript will automatically be sent to his/her home institution free of charge.

Students who wish to have additional copies sent to institutions should make their requests to the Center for International Education and include ¥500 per copy.

In all cases, transcripts will be held until all outstanding obligations to Kansai Gaidai (loans, library books, etc.) have been completely settled.

14. Behavior

If a student acts in such a manner as to bring discredit to Kansai Gaidai (i.e. violates the laws of Japan), or conducts himself/herself in such a manner as to infringe upon the rights of other students, faculty, or staff, or through unacceptable behavior indicates that he/she has no interest in any longer pursuing studies at Kansai Gaidai (i.e. excessive absences), he/she may be asked to leave the Asian Studies Program.
15. Academic Conduct

The Asian Studies Program takes very seriously any incident of academic cheating. Cheating is unfair to students who work honestly and compromises both the learning and evaluation processes. Academic cheating includes, but is not limited to, plagiarism (using previously published work without properly acknowledging the source, including that available on the internet); submitting work done in collusion with a student or someone else in a manner not authorized by the instructor; misconduct on an examination; submission of a paper written for a previous course, or submission of substantially the same paper in two or more Asian Studies Program courses without consent of the instructor(s) involved; or any other attempt to dishonestly pass off another’s work as one’s own or otherwise create an unfair academic advantage.

The penalties for academic cheating may include failure on the assignment, failure in the course, and refusal of request for extension into a second semester.

16. ID Card

Each student will be issued a Kansai Gaidai Student Identification Card. Since this card is indispensable (it is needed to enter the school library, gym, etc.), you should carry it with you at all times.

Also, various student discount fares are available for commuting, long distance travels, admission to movie theaters, etc.

If this card is lost or damaged, it must immediately be reported to the Center for International Education. A new card will be re-issued to you at a cost of ¥3,000.

17. Terminology for Enrollment Status

Students are roughly divided into two categories; participants who have been recommended from institutions having formal affiliation agreements with Kansai Gaidai, and participants who have directly applied to Kansai Gaidai. The latter are classified as Independent Students at Kansai Gaidai.

Those from affiliated programs can be generally divided into three types; Full-Exchange Students who pay tuition and room and board fees to their home institutions and thus are not charged any of these fees at Kansai Gaidai (except for deposits), Tuition and Fees Exchange Students, who pay their tuition to their home institutions and are totally responsible for their room and board fees at Kansai Gaidai. In these two cases, the academic fees paid to their home institutions will be used by their counterpart Japanese students. The third type is Term/Year Abroad Program Participants, who are officially recommended by affiliated institutions and payments are usually handled through these institutions. In this case, however, there are no counterpart Japanese students going from Kansai Gaidai to these institutions.
Because the specifics vary somewhat according to the agreement with each institution, it is strongly advised that you contact the Center for International Education, should you have any questions regarding payments, registration, etc.

18. Field Trips

Arranging field trips to manufacturers and other enterprises is very difficult and usually requires that a list of participants be submitted to the enterprise well in advance of the date of the trip. Apparently because of security considerations, all participants listed must be present for the trip and if not, future field trips may be placed in jeopardy.

Thus, to ensure that future students in the Asian Studies Program will have the opportunity to participate in similar activities, we ask that you sign the participation agreement confirming your intentions to participate.

Should you for any reason not participate (after signing the participation agreement), ¥2,000 from your ¥10,000 deposit will be forfeited.
Extension of Stay

Since all participants are guaranteed admission for one semester only, students who wish to extend their stay at Kansai Gaidai for a second semester must apply for extension of stay and are required to complete the following procedures. Please note that failure to comply with these procedures may result in denial of re-admission.

1. Submit to the Center for International Education, a completed "APPLICATION FOR EXTENSION OF STAY" no later than April 18 (Fri).

Information will be available from April 8 (Tue).

2. Approval of extension will depend on overall academic performance during the previous semester and faculty recommendation. Normally at least a 2.0 GPA with no F's will be considered the minimum standard for the approval of extension into a second semester. At least a 3.0 GPA and strong recommendations from the faculty will be required for the approval of extension into the third semester.

No "Incomplete" is permissible for students applying for extension.

3. Official Notification: Students will receive official notification of "APPROVAL OR DISAPPROVAL OF THE APPLICATION" on May 28 (Wed).

4. Students whose extension requests are approved must pay the tuition deposit of ¥200,000 or $2,000 between May 28 and 30 (Wed-Fri).

This money will be credited to your tuition payment to Kansai Gaidai for the next semester. Failure to fulfill this financial obligation will result in automatic cancellation from the program.

5. Students extending their stay are not required to participate in the next semester’s orientation program. However, it will be the student’s responsibility to officially register for classes by the end of the orientation period after completing all of the necessary payments to Kansai Gaidai, and to check their class schedule prior to the academic session.

6. Kansai Gaidai will not arrange any accommodations during the summer break. Therefore, it will be the student’s responsibility to secure appropriate housing during the summer break.

7. In case of sudden withdrawal from the program, refunds will be based upon our refund policy as specified in the Asian Studies Program brochure.

8. Students whose extension requests are not approved must leave their host families or the Seminar House by May 31 (Sat).
IMPORTANT NOTICE: Since visas for all the Asian Studies Program participants are sponsored by Kansai Gaidai, in accordance with Japanese immigration laws, if you terminate your relationship with Kansai Gaidai, you are responsible for securing new sponsorship and changing your visa status.

Furthermore, we are required to report to the Immigration Office that you are no longer students at Kansai Gaidai, and if you intend to remain in Japan you must secure new sponsorship.
Regulations on Cancellation of Classes
Due to Storm or Train Strikes

交通ストライキ、台風に伴う授業の取扱について

The following are the regulations on cancellation of classes because of storm warnings or train strikes:

These regulations apply only in the case of a storm warning (Bofu Keiho or 暴風警報) or a rain storm warning (Bofuu Keiho or 暴風雨警報). Please note that these regulations will not apply in the case of heavy rain warning (Oame Keiho or 大雨警報).

大阪府に暴風警報が発令された場合。（大雨警報等は該当しない。）

The same regulations will apply in the case of KEIHAN TRAIN strikes only. Classes will not be canceled in the case of KEIHAN BUS strikes.

交通ストライキとは、京阪電車の場合のみ。京阪バスがストライキになっても授業は休講にならない。

1. If the warning/strike is resolved before 7:00 am, classes will be held from the first period.
   午前7時までに解除の場合は、1限目より授業を行う。

2. If the warning/strike is resolved between 7:00 am and 10:00 am, classes will be held from 1:15 pm.
   午前10時までに解除の場合は、午後1時15分の授業から行う。

3. If the warning/strike is resolved between 10:00 am and 12:00 noon, classes will be held from 3:00 pm.
   正午までに解除の場合は、3時の授業から行う。

4. If the warning/strike is not resolved by 12:00 noon, all classes will be canceled.
   正午に解除されていない場合は、終日休講とする。
Japanese Language Courses

Japanese language courses are divided into two categories: Spoken Japanese and Reading and Writing Japanese. All students are required to take Spoken Japanese. Reading and Writing classes are electives. However, all four skills, speaking, listening, reading and writing must be adequately developed. Therefore, reading and writing skills are not entirely excluded in the Spoken Japanese classes. The same applies to the Reading and Writing classes, which include some conversation.

In all the language courses, there will be mid-term and final exams and additional quizzes in written and/or aural/oral form. Homework assignments will also be given.
Spoken Japanese Language Courses

Spoken Japanese 1
The first level of Elementary Spoken Japanese for beginners who have no knowledge of the language or no formal training in the language. Those who have studied Japanese but have not yet attained a firm grasp of the basic grammar are also advised to take this course. The course aims at the development of speaking and listening skills. However, hiragana and katakana will be used throughout the course. At the end of the course, successful students should be able to speak simple sentences needed for daily conversation.

Textbook:
Genki I: An Integrated Course in Elementary Japanese, The Japan Times
Genki Workbook I, The Japan Times (Lesson 1 to Lesson 8)

Spoken Japanese 2
The second level of Elementary Spoken Japanese. New students must pass a placement test in order to enroll. Students must show fluency in speaking simple sentences. At the end of the course, students are expected to be able to adequately handle everyday conversation in Japanese.

Textbook:
Genki I and II: An Integrated Course in Elementary Japanese, The Japan Times
Genki Workbook I and II, The Japan Times (Lesson 8 (Review) + Lessons 9-16)

Spoken Japanese 3
The third level of Elementary Spoken Japanese. New students must pass a placement test in order to enroll. This course aims to review and reinforce previous knowledge of Japanese and systematically develop the patterns of expression needed in various situation commonly encountered in daily Japanese life. In addition to the textbooks, audio-visual materials such as movies will be used.

Textbook:
Genki II: An Integrated Course in Elementary Japanese, The Japan Times
Genki Workbook II, The Japan Times (Lesson 17 to Lesson 23)

Spoken Japanese 4
The first level of Intermediate Spoken Japanese. New students must pass a placement test in order to enroll. Private study time using audio materials is strongly recommended. The purpose of the course is to develop the ability to communicate in various situations commonly encountered at the university level. In addition to written materials, audio-visual materials such as TV programs and movies will be used to help students improve both their speaking and listening comprehension.

Textbook: Materials prepared by the Kansai Gaidai language faculty.
Spoken Japanese Language Courses

Spoken Japanese 5
The second level of Intermediate Spoken Japanese. The course will lay the foundation for three to four years of undergraduate level study. It will develop communication skills in spoken Japanese to the point where students can deal with a wide range of academic topics and with basic facts about Japanese business, culture and society, etc. Up-to-date audio-visual materials including Japanese TV programs are used, and the major portion of classes will be spent on oral interaction such as discussions, presentations, debates or speeches.

Textbook: To be announced in the class. Videotaped materials and handouts

Spoken Japanese 6
This course is an early to intermediate stage of advanced Spoken Japanese for those who do not have any difficulty in daily conversation. The level is suitable for students who are at around Level 2 or slightly higher of the Japanese Language Proficiency Test (of JEES). Approximately half the class will be spent on discussions, speeches, projects, learning advanced vocabulary and expressions. The other half of the class will be devoted to lessons with audio-visual materials, paying special attention to colloquial expressions. This course also aims at developing communication ability in more serious and academic topics.

Textbook: To be announced in the class.

Spoken Japanese 7A/B
Spoken Japanese 7A is offered in the fall semester and Spoken Japanese 7B is offered in the spring semester. They are offered with different course materials.

This course is the advanced Spoken Japanese for those who have already achieved proficiency of Japanese Language Proficiency Test Level 1 or its equivalent. The schedule is designed to prepare students for professional careers where a high level of Japanese proficiency is required. The course aims at developing a higher level of competency in listening to and speaking Japanese through discussion, debate and directed research on various topics. By performing these activities, students will gain a deeper understanding of contemporary Japanese culture and society. Audio-visual materials are used to further develop and refine listening and speaking skills. Individual projects will be assigned.

Textbook: To be announced in the class
Introduction to the Japanese Writing System (1 credit)
The very basic introductory five-week Kana and Basic Kanji course. This is not a separate course, but is integrated with the regular Reading and Writing Japanese 1 course. Hiragana and katakana and some very basic kanji will be introduced in this course. This course is required for students who do not have enough knowledge of hiragana and katakana to handle the Spoken Japanese language course. The students in this course may upgrade by switching Reading and Writing 1 (1 credit) to the regular Reading and Writing 1 (3 credits) before the end of the fifth week.

Regular Reading and Writing Japanese Courses

These courses will be devoted not only to the learning of hiragana, katakana, and kanji, but also to training in the writing of compositions and to the development of reading comprehension ability. Various kinds of materials may be used in class. Mid-term and final exams and quizzes will be given in each course. Homework assignments will also be given.

Reading and Writing Japanese 1
The first level of Reading and Writing Japanese. The course presupposes no prior knowledge of written Japanese. Starting with the introduction of hiragana and katakana, approximately 100 kanji will also be introduced during the semester. We will read and write Japanese on simple everyday topics such as diaries, messages, and letters.

Textbook:
Genki I: An Integrated Course in Elementary Japanese, The Japan Times
Genki Workbook I, The Japan Times (Lesson 1 to Lesson 8)

Reading and Writing Japanese 2
The second level of Reading and Writing Japanese. Students should be able to read/write hiragana, katakana and some basic kanji (approximately 100 or more). Approximately 110 more kanji will be introduced during the semester. We will read articles in the style of diaries, folktales, personal ads, and so forth. We will also practice writing on various topics related to the reading materials.

Textbook:
Genki I and II: An Integrated Course in Elementary Japanese, The Japan Times
Genki Workbook I and II, The Japan Times (Lesson 9 to Lesson 16)

Reading and Writing Japanese 3
The third level of Reading and Writing Japanese. Students should be able to read/write approximately 210 kanji. Approximately 110 more kanji will be introduced during the semester. We will read articles in the style of biography, letters, diaries, and so forth. We will also practice writing on topics related to the reading materials.
Textbook: Genki II : An Integrated Course in Elementary Japanese, The Japan Times
Genki Workbook II, The Japan Times (Lesson 16 to Lesson 22)

Reading and Writing Japanese 4
The fourth level of Reading and Writing Japanese. Students should be able to recognize approximately 320 kanji. Approximately 230~270 more kanji will be introduced during the semester. We will read articles in the style of essays, short stories, newspaper articles, as well as reading materials prepared for learners of Japanese. We will also practice writing on topics related to the reading material.

Textbook: Chukyu o Manaboo (Zenki), 3A Corporation (Lessons 1-4 & Lessons 6-8)

Reading and Writing Japanese 5
The fifth level of Reading & Writing Japanese. Students should be able to recognize approximately 600 kanji. Approximately 300 more kanji will be introduced during the semester. In this course, we will read authentic materials such as short stories, poems, and newspaper articles, as well as reading materials prepared for learners of Japanese. We will also practice writing letters using keigo, short stories, and so forth.

Textbook: Chukyu o Manaboo (Chuuki), 3A Corporation (Lessons 1-8)

Reading and Writing Japanese 6
The course is an early to intermediate stage of the advanced Reading and Writing Japanese. Students should be able to recognize and produce approximately 900 kanji characters. About 500 more characters will be introduced. Authentic materials such as selected essays, newspaper articles, short stories will be assigned for reading. Students are required to write term papers in which they should develop their critical opinions on various issues and concerns presented in the reading materials.

Textbook: To be announced in class.

Reading and Writing Japanese 7 A/B
Reading and Writing Japanese7A is offered in the fall semester and Reading and Writing Japanese7B is offered in the spring semester. They are offered with different course materials.

The advanced Reading and Writing Japanese. Students should be able to recognize and produce approximately 1,400 kanji. The Joyo Kanji (1,945 kanji) will be covered during the semester. This course aims at developing academic writing skills in Japanese in more serious and academic topics. Students are required to read authentic materials such as novels, essays, editorials, and so forth, and to write regularly short articles about the topics related to their reading.
Japanese Language Class Policy

Japanese Only Policy

Learning a language does not happen only in class. It is very important to use the target language in real life. That is why we strongly encourage you to speak Japanese in every situation. As a Japanese course policy, you are required to speak to all Japanese instructors in Japanese except for emergency situations. Your effort to use Japanese could be evaluated as a part of your class performance in Reading and Writing classes as well as Spoken Japanese classes.

Japanese Language Courses

1. Spoken Japanese courses (SPJ): students are required to attend five periods of classroom work each week. Self-study of using the audio-visual materials available in the Language Lab is required.

2. Reading and Writing Japanese classes (RWJ): Students who take these courses are required to attend three periods of classroom work each week. All students who cannot read and write in hiragana and katakana characters well are strongly recommended to take a regular Reading and Writing course. If, however, this is not possible, such students are required to take Reading and Writing 1 for the first five weeks as Introduction to the Japanese Writing System (1 credit).

3. Prerequisites for classes

   Spoken Japanese 2-7
   C- or higher grade in the next lower level of Spoken Japanese course, or equivalent

   Reading and Writing Japanese Courses
   Corresponding Spoken Japanese proficiency is required; Reading and Writing level should not be higher than Spoken Japanese level. Additionally the following requirements should be satisfied:

   Reading and Writing Japanese 2-7
   C- or higher grade in the next lower level of Reading and Writing course, or equivalent

4. Repeating Courses (If your grade did not allow you to advance to the next level)

   Spoken Japanese 1-7
   If your grade was in the D range, it is mandatory to repeat the same level in the next semester.

   Reading and Writing 1-7
   If your grade was in the D range, it is possible to repeat the same level or not to take a Reading and Writing course in the next semester.
5. Absence Policy

If a student misses, for any reason, more than 30% of the regularly scheduled class periods in a semester, a final grade of F will be given regardless of academic performance.

6. Arriving Late to Classes

Students must be on time for classes. If a student is late three times, it will be considered one full class period missed on the attendance record.

7. Absence on Quiz/Exam Days

Quizzes will be given regularly. As a rule, no make-up quizzes will be given. In case of an unavoidable problem, inform the instructor in advance. The Mid-term and Final Examination schedule will not be changed for any reason. However, absence owing to serious illness accompanied by a medical certificate will be taken into consideration.

8. Grading

The grading system for the language courses will be based upon the following, unless stated otherwise in the syllabus for a particular course:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Component</th>
<th>Weight</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Quizzes, performance in class and L.L., etc.</td>
<td>50%</td>

<td>100%</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Letter Grade:

- A 93-100
- A- 90-92
- B+ 87-89
- B 83-86
- C+ 77-79
- C 73-76
- D+ 67-69
- D 63-66
- C- 70-72
- D- 60-62
- F 0-59

Language Lab

The language lab (L.L.) will be open Monday through Friday from 9:00 AM to 8:00 PM, and Saturday from 9:00 AM to 4:00 PM.
Jump Test

Those students who have done exceptionally well and received a high A in a Japanese language course may be allowed to take the Jump Test after studying the designated materials during the summer/winter vacation. Those who pass the test will be permitted to skip the next level. In order to take the Jump Test students must follow the procedure explained below:

1) By the last day of classes,
   express your interest in taking a Jump Test to your current Japanese language instructor and find out when she/he will finish grading for the course.

2) Soon after your instructor has finished grading for your course,
   ask him/her whether you are eligible to take a Jump Test. (Your instructor will decide your eligibility on the basis of your class performance, final grade, and amount of time available for you to study during the break.)

3) If you are eligible to take a Jump Test, receive from your instructor a written permission with the date and place of your Jump Test, and find out what materials you should study during the break. (Bring the permission to the Jump Test.)

4) During the break,
   study the materials designated by your instructor. You must devote your time and energy thoroughly to it. If you leave the materials half done and fail the jump test, you will have to re-study the same materials.

5) On the day of the Jump Test,
   come to the place at the designated time, show the written permission to any Japanese language instructor at the location, and take the test.

Important: The Jump Test is administered for only those who have followed the above procedure; those who ask to take a Jump Test for the first time at the beginning of a new semester will NOT be allowed to take one.
Lecture Courses

The courses in the Asian Studies Program are generally equivalent to 300 or 400 level upper division (third- and fourth-year) courses in most other universities in terms of level of difficulty and amount of work required. Most of them are designed to accommodate non-majors. For a few courses, however, it is recommended that students have some level of background in the course discipline. Students are advised to read the course descriptions carefully and consult with the course instructor should there be any questions about course level or requirements.
The role of entrepreneurship in an economy has been well documented and is of interest to businesspeople, politicians, professors and students. Creating and growing a new venture inside or outside a corporation is a task that few individuals are able to accomplish, even though many have the desire. Entrepreneurship in a foreign market introduces additional challenges and opportunities to the business owner. This course is based on an understanding of all the functional areas to the new venture creation process with a focus on those aspects that are of particular importance to the foreign business owner.

Students will learn how to discover and evaluate ideas for new ventures. In addition to lectures and assigned readings, the students will work on teams that develop a comprehensive business plan for a new venture in Japan. The combination of lecture and team projects will give students an opportunity to see the interaction and importance of market research, legal planning, financial statements and management strategy. Although these concepts will be generally applicable to the process of starting a business anywhere in the world, we will also focus on the unique opportunities and challenges involved in launching a business in Japan. As much as possible we will have guest lectures in class from entrepreneurs, foreign and Japanese, to outline their own business development efforts.

No prior business knowledge or coursework is required for this class.

Grading
Grading is based on a series of equally weighted quizzes and the business plan report. Team and class participation will also impact the final grade.

Quizzes: 30%
Business Plan: 70%
This course emphasizes the role of diversity in world markets and the importance of local consumer knowledge and marketing practices. A cross-cultural approach is used which compares national marketing systems and local commercial customs in various countries. The impact of country differences in macroeconomic and regulatory environments on marketing activities is examined. Methodological difficulties pertaining to cross-cultural marketing research will be identified and we will develop strategies to address them. Finally, the study of interaction between business people from different cultures is discussed and will be simulated in class using case studies and in class simulations. While examples in the course will be global the focus will be on Asia and in particular Japan.

Learning Objectives
At the end of the course, a student should be able to:
● Understand the challenges confronting marketing across cultures.
● Be aware of the impact of macroeconomic differences and regulations on marketing activities among countries.
● Be prepared to develop and implement an international marketing plan

Course Organization
Subjects covered in the assigned chapters of the text will be presented and discussed in class. Students are expected to have read the assigned chapters and be prepared to present and discuss the topic selected for the class. The international experience and international research studies of the professor will be used to complement the textbook. Guest lecturers with direct experience in marketing across cultures will present their experience to the class. Small teams of students will also prepare and present one case study proposed in the detailed timetable of the course.

Grading
Case study presentation by student teams: 35%
Three quizzes given during class hours at 15% each: 45%
Class Participation: 20%
It has become almost impossible to read a newspaper, business magazine or textbook without encountering the idea of a "global market". In at least one definition of the term, a global market refers to the manner in which multinational enterprises select, enter into and manage foreign markets. In this course, we will examine the practical aspects of how firms choose to enter into foreign markets with a focus on East Asia. After learning the fundamental risks unique to foreign markets, we will use a case based approach to learn how executives select markets, develop entry strategies and manage the foreign venture. In order to truly understand the risks associated with business in East Asia, we will study business cases in which foreign firms have failed in their efforts as well as those who have successfully managed their entry into the Asian markets.

By the end of this course, the student will not only understand the theoretical and strategic issues related to entering a foreign market but will also understand that cultural, historic and structural issues can be as important as economic principles when entering a foreign market.

Course Topics

Introduction to international business and global trade
The current scale of international markets
Import/Export processes (guest lecturer)
Analyzing foreign markets with focus on Korea, Japan and China strategic concerns related to market entry.
Organizational implementation of foreign market entry
Case based examples of foreign firms in Korean, Japanese and Chinese markets and Japanese firms entry into foreign markets.
The selected cases are designed to highlight the principles mentioned above.

Understanding Japanese Business and Society - Piercing the Veil

Prof. Aki Kinjo

You are what you read. What books are Japanese executives reading and why? Without being able to answer these simple questions, it is hard to comprehend contemporary Japan and the dynamics behind it. This course provides rare insights, in English, into the true thinking of the Japanese executive. The “Japanization” of economic, societal, and political challenges is happening across the world. This course offers a preview of the challenges that may happen shortly in your part of the globe and explores strategies to cope with them.

Learning Objectives
At the end of the course, a student should be able to:
1. Have hands-on understanding of contemporary Japan and its challenges
2. Understand what Japanese business executives are really thinking and why
3. Apply the analysis and solutions to the challenges of Japanese society to your home country

Course Topics
- How the Japanese view their post-war economic success and decline
- Innovation and breakthroughs in Japanese management as described by who made it happen
- The root causes of the continued decline of the Japanese economy
- What is really happening inside established Japanese businesses
- Recent trends in the mindset of Japanese professionals

Readings
Key points of following books, written in Japanese, will be lectured by the professor in English. Students are expected to actively participate.
“The Roots of the Economic Crisis”, Y. Noguchi
“Economic Policies of Post-War Prime Ministers”, A. Kusano
“Management”, M. Ogura
“Dantotsu Management”, S. Sakane
“The True Culprit of Deflation”, K. Motani
“Framework of Thinking”, H. Deguchi
“Think on Your Own”, Chikirin
“Professional Skills to Compete Globally”, K. Takeda

- Students are requested to give presentations on relevant topics, using books published in their home country.
(Reading materials are subject to change)

Global Business Teams

Dr. Scott L. Lind

As the world continues to become increasingly interconnected, many students will work in global contexts and will need related competencies. Creating effective work teams is challenging, even among people from similar backgrounds. Global teams face additional hurdles related to cultural differences, geographic and time zone separation, communication styles, differences in decision-making strategies, and role expectations, to name a few. Globally-competent teams understand that achieving their fullest potential requires relevant knowledge, skills, and attitudes.

The purpose of this course is to assist students in developing competencies related to effective teamwork in a global context. Upon completion, students will understand and be able to navigate cultural differences that impact team performance. To this end, students will create productive multicultural teams that benefit from shared goals, positive relations, trust, and empathy. A variety of methods and activities will be used in class, including discussion, experiential learning tools, simulations, lecture, critical incident, video critique, and personal reflection.

Course Topics
Team formation and team building
Personal leadership
Goal development
Conflict resolution
Task and relationship orientations
Communication styles
Cultural values
Role expectations
Trust building
Empathy

Gross ethical lapses leading up to and during the recent financial crisis have brought misery to many and have tarnished the image of entire sectors of the global economy. Now more than ever, international business managers must demonstrate that they can be both moral and profitable. Global citizens and corporate leaders must show that they can think beyond the confines of a single culture's ideas about right and wrong with respect to the marketplace. With a concentration on Japan and Asia, this course is designed to broaden a student's perspective on business ethics through consideration of real-world issues and problem solving that any international business manager could face. We will also explore the emerging idea of a global ethical code and examine Japan's role in fostering this idea.

Classroom sessions and assignments are designed to challenge a student's initial perspectives. Important case studies, such as those of famous hedge fund managers and Japanese Internet entrepreneurs, will illustrate the realities and complexities of these issues. As ethics requires being able to establish and defend a position, this course is discussion-intensive and, at times, will require the student to playfully defend ideas that she/he may be personally opposed to.

Course Topics
How do we define ethics and business ethics?
Political Ideologies and Business
Socially Responsible Investing
Insider Trading
E-ethics
Spirituality and the Marketplace
Bribery, Corruption, Fraud, and Whistle-blowing
Ethical Codes and Corporate Social Responsibility

Requirements
There are no prerequisites for this course, and students from all academic backgrounds may enroll.

Readings
Readings will include a range of materials, such as textbooks, newspaper articles, and online resources.

Every business transaction involves negotiation. Negotiations can involve matters as simple as the salary and benefits package for your first job or as complex as trade negotiations between governments. Negotiation is also an important activity in the non-profit sector. A human rights organization or charity is likely to be involved in negotiations with many different entities to accomplish their goals. In the global environment, understanding the opportunities and challenges involved in transnational negotiations can often make the difference between success and failure. This course is designed to introduce the student to fundamental concepts of negotiation as well as specific challenges, strategies, and opportunities in international negotiations.

Through a combination of academic study and practical application, students will learn how to successfully negotiate, implement, and evaluate international business transactions. Students will learn how different cultures prepare for and engage in negotiation and what strategies should be used to evaluate and adapt to foreign negotiation. The final portion of the course will be to explore the idea of a “global approach” to negotiation and to determine if there are strategies that are appropriate for every situation, regardless of nationality or culture.

Course Structure

The fundamental principles of international negotiation will be taught through a combination of lecture and assigned readings. After a particular principle has been introduced, the student will then apply that principle in a negotiation exercise. Some of the negotiation exercises will be individual assignments while others will be team assignments. Some of the exercises will involve traditional business transactions while others may involve political, economic or social transactions. Each exercise will be designed to mimic scenarios that actually arise in international transactions and to highlight the application of the relevant principle in the negotiation.

Prerequisites

There are no prerequisites for this course. Although many of the negotiation exercises will involve business transactions, it is not necessary for the student to have a background in business in order to be able to complete the exercise.

Readings

The reading for this course will be distributed as a packet.

Grading

1. Three or four quizzes which will constitute 35%
2. Individual and team negotiation exercises which will constitute 30%
3. Self evaluation, which will constitute 25%
4. Class attendance and participation which will constitute 10%
Rumors about criminal justice systems in Asia are common and often exaggerated. Newspapers report that Japan is a homogenous crime-free society while they publish pictures of caning in Singapore. This course will introduce the student to the nature of crime and criminal justice systems in several Asian countries. The main focus of the course is on Japanese criminal justice.

Along with other areas of focus, the class will examine how the Japanese criminal justice works to produce one of the lowest rates of crime in the developed world. We will learn why Japanese prosecutors win 99.98% of their trials and we will try to discover why the vast majority of criminal suspects confess.

We will examine the recent reforms of the criminal justice system in Thailand and measure the effect they have had on crime. After we have explored the intended and immediate results of the reforms we will try to discover how the system has allowed extra-judicial killing of thousands of suspects.

Our study of the criminal justice system in China will teach us to place the concept of criminal justice within the broader perspective of politics and sovereignty. We will examine those ways in which the system is changing and predict future change. We will also try to identify the ways in which criminal law is being used to limit the main threats to political stability in China. Finally we will place the death penalty debate into a global context by examining the strike hard campaigns and China’s implementation of the death penalty.

There will be a field trip to watch criminal trials in the Osaka courthouse. Interpreters will be provided.

Course Topics:

1. General Introduction
   Introduce the general concepts of criminal law and explain the appropriate terms involved in the study of comparative criminal justice. Use statistics to highlight the differences between Japan and the rest of the world.

2. Nation Building
   You will be divided into teams and will create a nation and a criminal justice system.
   You will explain that nation and its system to your colleagues and turn in a written summary of the system.

Pacific Rivalry:
The Challenges of Interstate and Regional Relations

Dr. Paul Scott

The Asia Pacific Region is host to overlapping and interlinking rivalries and challenges whose resolution is uncertain. Moreover, the post 9/11 world has made the outcome of any so-called Pacific Century problematic at best.

This course seeks to examine the various pressure points existing within the APR. The approach is traditional in the sense that the four major actors in the region: The U.S., Japan, China, and Russia, will be examined.

The course is arranged in weekly lecture themes. Readings are from a variety of sources but your main text is: Pacific Century – The Emergence of Modern Pacific Asia.

Course Topics
- Examining the fault lines; Defining power.
- The U.S. in Asia – Sentimental Imperialism
- The Pacific War and Occupation
- Creating Hiroshima’s
- U.S. Foreign Policy
- The Powell Doctrine and post 9/11
- Japan and Road to Pearl Harbor
- War and Occupation
- Conflicted Pacifism/Reluctant Realism
- The growth of the Japanese economy and the new triad of power.
- Debating the end of the Washington Consensus
- The People’s Republic of China – The Mao Years
- The Dengist Gamble
- Democratizing Asia?
- Toward a model of Pan Pacific Growth
- The Koreas – Soft landing/hard Landing
- Russia as a Pacific Power
- Constructing Proto-Scenarios

Readings
The Pacific Century
Subscribing to a daily newspaper is strongly recommended. The Japan Times is the paper of record.

Grading

Grading
There will be two take home examinations each equally weighted at 50%. Students are expected to attend each class.
This course is designed to explore and discuss the interrelated issues of creating peace, the utility of force, the dispatch of peacekeeping, the creation of institutions of justice, and the configuring of human rights. This discussion takes place in a post 9-11 environment.

Participants enrolled in this course are expected not to be passive observers. We will attempt to define the limits of Japan’s pacifism, the question of Hiroshima, the nature of the state and society in North Korea, the tragedy of Tibet, the oppression in Burma, the lack of democratization in China, and the concept of preemption. Moreover, the continued wars in Afghanistan and Iraq will provide ample room for discussion.

There will be optional field trips to Hiroshima; Osaka Peace Museum; and possibly a trip to the Shiga Prefectural Prison. In addition there will be guest speakers including: Mr. Sumida Ichiro on the homeless community, and the buraku issue.

Course Topics
Evaluating power.

Communicating in an international context requires an understanding of factors that affect interaction between people from diverse cultural perspectives. The ability to look beyond cultural differences in order to recognize and appreciate the motivations of others is an important early step in developing communicative competence in a foreign language. Study of intercultural communication theory and research is critical to the success, relational development, and satisfaction of students who strive to maximize their language and cultural learning while in Japan.

This course is a practical introduction to theory and research in the field of intercultural communication as applied to a Japanese context. The primary course content focuses on perceptions, behaviors, values, and cultural patterns of human interaction, thereby assisting students in developing a clearer understanding of their own communicative perspectives as related to life in Japan. A variety of methods and activities, including class discussion, groupwork, lecture, cultural enactment, video critique, story telling, critical incident, written reflection, and in-class engagement, will be used to help students to develop intercultural communication competence.

Course Topics
Communication
Definitions of culture
Development of shared goals
Intercultural competence
Approaches to learning
Cultural adjustment
Perceptions and expectations
Identity
Cultural values
In-group and out-group relations

Though an island country, Japan has hardly remained in isolation throughout its history. In the early period, relations with its nearest neighbors, Korea and China, were of great importance to Japan’s development, and later with the coming of the West in the sixteenth century, Europe and then America became factors of change.

Nevertheless, as an island country, Japan has usually been able to control its relations with the “outside,” at least in the traditional period. This course will examine Japan’s relations with its neighbors and later the West.

Course Topics
1. The Chinese World Order and Early Japan
2. Cultural Exchange and the Silk Road
3. Mongol Invasions of Japan
4. Hideyoshi’s Invasions of Korea
5. The “Christian Century”
7. The “Opening of Japan”

Requirements/Prerequisites
This course should appeal to those students who have some background in Japanese and/or East Asian history. However, those without such background should also find it useful to initiate their understanding of East Asia.

Readings
Since there are no textbooks that deal specifically with the course topic, readings will be prepared and assigned from a number of sources, including:
Fairbank, The Chinese World Order
Tsunoda & Goodrich, Japan in the Chinese Dynastic Histories
Sansom, The Western World and Japan

Culture, Power and Belonging in Japan:
Anthropological Perspectives on the Making of Minorities and Majorities
Dr. Jeffry T. Hester

This course focuses on the shifting conditions of cultural minority and marginalized groups in Japan, in particular: the Ainu, Okinawans, those of Buraku “outcaste” heritage, ethnic Koreans tracing their heritage from the colonial era, Nikkei "return" migrants, and the growing Chinese and South Asian communities and other “newcomer” foreigners.

The unifying theme of the course is “belonging,” referring to the ideas and practices that structure social inclusion and exclusion. Belonging encompasses both formal membership rights in a polity (often referred to as “citizenship”), as well as aspects of social acceptance and recognition in other institutions, both formal and informal, such as neighborhoods, schools and the media. Based on the argument that boundaries of inclusion also produce their own exclusions, we will also investigate the construction of the “majority,” that is, the boundaries of national belonging and mainstream norms.

The broad themes to be addressed include: “culture,” “tradition” and formation of national identity; the role of the State, capital and colonialism in the creation of national, ethnic and caste boundaries; the symbolic processes by which groups are stigmatized and marked as subordinate “others”; administrative and legal technologies involved in the construction and regulation of social boundaries; the diverse actions and responses on the part of marginalized status groups to gain recognition, inclusion and justice; the creative use of “culture,” traditional and popular, in identity movements; the effects of commodified forms of culture, such as Uchinaa (Okinawan) Pop and the “Korean Wave,” on public representations and self-images of minorities; and the changing Japanese social context (e.g., globalization, post-9/11 security concerns, increasing social inequalities, below-replacement fertility rates) and recent shifts in conceptualizations of belonging.

Osaka and the Kansai region provide a rich landscape for encountering and learning from a variety of minority communities. Opportunities will be made in the course for experiencing aspects of Japan's cultural diversity such as language, music, and cuisine. And we will take full advantage of comparative opportunities to reflect on our own experiences of ethnic identity in and outside of Japan.

Readings

Grading
Grading will be based on (1) in-class performance, i.e., participation in class discussion, preparation of reading and other assignments, in-class presentations and brief quizzes (33%); (2) a take-home midterm examination (33%); and (3) a take-home final examination (33%). Under certain conditions, a research paper may be substituted for (2) and (3) with instructor's approval of a written proposal.
This course aims to explore beliefs and practices in Japan related to gender and sexuality, and how they shape the lives of people in Japan. Through the course, students will gain the conceptual, historical and cultural background for understanding gender issues within the context of Japanese society.

In exploring such gender-related phenomena, we will discuss the meanings underpinning contested ideas of femininity and masculinity, gender roles and the gendered division of labor in Japan, and issues of sexuality, reproduction, and the body. A comparative, cross-cultural perspective will be employed throughout the course, and students will be asked to reflect on their own culturally specific, gendered perspectives and positions.

Course Topics
Topics to be covered include: (1) the symbolic construction of gender through language, religion and popular culture images; (2) the historical development of gender roles in Japan; (3) gender ideology, the politics of reproduction and the state; (4) socialization of gender roles; (5) family, work, and the gendered division of labor; (6) changing values and behavior at the intersection of sexuality and gender, including conjugal relations, commercialized worlds of sex, and commodification of the body; and (7) issues surrounding gay and lesbian identities and transgender issues in Japan.

Gender and sexuality are contested and dynamic areas of social life in Japan. Shaping this dynamism include legal changes involving equal employment opportunities in the workplace, sexual harassment, and the introduction of family and childcare leave for men; rising ages of marriage and declining rates of reproduction; labor market shifts that are eroding employment stability; shifting ideas of motherhood and fatherhood and the balance of family and work; the challenge to conventional gender roles by feminism; attempts by the state, in the face of an intensifying demographic crisis, to reshape gender roles through a "Plan for a Gender Equal Society," and a backlash from conservative quarters anxious to preserve gender role distinctions. At the same time, gender-bending and gender-blending have become mainstays of Japanese popular culture, while sexual and gender minorities make tentative progress in their struggle for rights and recognition. By the end of the course, students should have a better understanding of these issues and their linkages, and a sense of their importance to Japanese society and to the lives of individuals in Japan.

Readings
Students will read a wide range of authors from the literature on gender, culture and society in Japan from both "native" and foreign scholars and commentators, including Yuko Ogasawara, Chizuko Ueno, Shigeko Okamoto, Susan Holloway, Mark McLelland, Karen Kelsky, Masako Ishii-Kuntz, Emiko Ochiai, Akiko Takeyama, Atsuko Kameda and many others.

Grading
Grading will be based on (1) in-class performance, including participation in class discussion, preparation of reading and other assignments, and brief quizzes (33%); (2) a take-home midterm examination (33%); and (3) a take-home final examination (33%). A research paper may be substituted for (2) and (3) with instructor's approval of a written proposal.
The aim of this course is to investigate the relationship between the consumption of popular cultural products (objects, images, discourses) and social life in Japan, based mostly on perspectives from cultural anthropology and cultural studies. The primary focus will be on fandoms, subcultures and identities structured through contemporary consumption practices.

Popular culture is intimately involved in the production and circulation of codes of meaning, forming an ever more significant aspect of what anthropologists call “culture.” While forming a huge, profit-motivated commercial sector, popular culture is also the site of the creation of dreams and longings, of styles of adornment, forms of play, social belonging, and identity. We increasingly know one another, and ourselves, through practices of popular culture consumption.

Course Topics

In this course, we will critically explore selected topics from the broad field of popular culture in Japan, with a focus on the relationships between cultural products, consumption practices, and social norms, practices, and tensions within Japanese society. We will briefly discuss the historical development of popular cultural industry in Japan, followed by the recent emergence of a discourse on “cool Japan.” Most of the course will be devoted to exploring specific fandoms, subcultures or cultural categories constructed around consumption practices such as otaku, the dōjinshi world and fujoshi female consumers of male-male eroticism, J-rappers, gyaru, visual-kei fans and the legendary fans of the Takarazuka Revue. Fans’ creative “play” with norms of gender and sexuality will be a theme running throughout the course. We will also explore questions of creativity and self-expression, constructions of “deviance,” and the role of popular culture in resistance to, or reinscription of, dominant norms.

We will also follow the global circulation of cultural products to and from Japan as they slip out of the original contexts of production, are adapted to local contexts and given new meanings and social effects. Students’ own interests in and expertise on aspects of popular culture will be utilized to help us make sense of links between popular culture consumption practices and other aspects of social life.

Readings

We will cover some readings on theoretical and conceptual issues in popular culture and society (e.g., John Storey, Peter Martin, David Chaney). Most readings will address recent specific Japanese popular cultural phenomena, as discussed in the writings of Ian Condry on J-rap, S. Kinsella on kawaii, L. Miller on gyaru, A. Mizoguchi on yaoi, C. Yano on enka, J. Stocker on manzai comedy, plus work on youth fashion, visual-kei musical performance, etc.

Grading

Students will be evaluated based upon (1) in-class performance, including: regular attendance, preparation of readings, participating in class discussion, and in-class group presentation (33%); (2) mini ethnographic projects: fan interview report and site report (33%); and (3) a popular culture consumption reflection essay, and a final in-class exam (33%).
This course is a cross-cultural exploration of the variety of non-normative gender and sexual practices and beliefs appearing in human societies. In this course, we will explore those aspects of gender and sexuality that exist beyond or between, transcending or transgressing the gender binaries and heteronormative ideologies and social arrangements that have come to be dominant in the modern West and elsewhere. The course will be explicitly comparative. With Japan at the center, the course will also explore gender and sexual phenomena and their social, cultural and historical contexts elsewhere in Asia and in other world regions.

Based in a cultural anthropological, cultural relativist approach, we will explore a range of phenomena exhibiting the diversity of human practices in the realms of gender and sexuality. Topics include temporary gender reversals and the carnivalesque; indigenous minority gender/sexual regimes including so-called third genders (e.g., two spirit people of native North America, kathoey of Thailand, hijra of South Asia); "global queering" and the diffusion of Western models of LGBT discourses of identity; medico-legal discourses framing intersex conditions and gender identity disorder; issues of visibility and representations of gender and sexual difference in mass media and popular culture; and the relationship of minority gender/sexual identities and political mobilization, resistance, and the framework of human rights. To the extent possible, topics will be adjusted to accommodate student interest.

While introducing key ethnographic literature and conceptual language to help make sense of these diverse phenomena, we will also be screening documentary and narrative films to introduce a range of voices and help illuminate the experiences of people in minority gender and sexuality positions and the contexts that shape their perspectives and situations.

Readings

The English-language literature on these topics has blossomed over the past 15 years or so. On Japan, we will be reading works exploring the situation of lesbian, gay and transgender people by H. Abe, S. Chalmers, M. McLelland, G. Pflugfelder, S. Kamano and D. Khor, J. Mitsuhashi, H. Sawabe, K. Suganuma, I. Sugiura, and others. For work centered outside of Japan, authors include E. Blackwood, T. Boellstorff, P. Jackson, M. Manalansan, S. Nanda, G. Reddy, and M. Sinnott.

Grading

Grading will be based on (1) in-class performance, including participation in class discussion, preparation of reading and other assignments, and brief quizzes (33%); (2) reaction papers on sets of readings and films screened in class (33%); and (3) a choice of a take-home exam; or a brief ethnographic paper based on interviews or fieldwork; or an annotated translation into English of an important and relevant Japanese text (33%). For graduate students or students preparing to write a graduation thesis, a research paper may be substituted for (3) with instructor's approval of a written proposal.
Deaf World Japan:
The Struggle of Disability, Identity and Language
Dr. Steven C. Fedorowicz

This course is an ethnographic examination of deaf culture in Japan and Japanese Sign Language. While the focus will be on deaf people and their language, it will be in the broader context of contemporary Japan. Deafness as deficit and deaf people as bicultural will be the major theoretical models. How are deaf and disabled people treated within Japanese society in the realms of education, social welfare, identity, and communication? Deaf people will be compared/contrasted with other so-called disabled people and other minorities in Japan in terms of discrimination issues and political movements. Cross-cultural comparisons of deaf people in the United States, France, Germany, Bali and other places will also be considered. A major component of this course will be the analysis and practical study of Japanese Sign Language.

Course Topics
1. Deaf Culture in Japan
2. Japanese Sign Language – Practical
3. Models of Deafness: Disability and Cultural
5. Deaf Schools in Japan
6. Disability and Social Welfare in Japan
7. Cross-Cultural Deaf Comparisons: United States, France, Germany, Bali
8. Deaf Identity and Politics
9. Visual Culture, Deaf Art and Performance

Visual Anthropology of Japan

Dr. Steven C. Fedorowicz

We have often heard the phrases “the camera never lies,” “seeing is believing” and “a picture is worth a thousand words.” Visual anthropology, in part, deals with the presentation and representation of culture through the use of film, video, still photography, art and other graphic media. How does one visually represent a culture? Culture has often been likened to an iceberg; we can only see the tip and perhaps the most important aspects are submerged and difficult to see. Visual anthropology strives to visualize the invisible – knowledge, values, morals, beliefs, perceptions, capabilities and private spaces. In this course, ethnographic films, photography and other visual media focusing on Japan will be examined, analyzed and evaluated in terms of providing understanding of Japanese culture. Who constructs such visual images, for what purpose and in what context will also be of concern. The theoretical focus of the course will be on the issues and consequences of visual representation; methodology and technique will also be discussed and practiced. The major student assignment of the course is the production of a short ethnographic film or photo exhibition about some aspect of Japan such as traditional culture, popular culture, education, art, entertainment, sports, religion, gender, politics and globalization.

Course Topics
1. The Visual Representation of Culture
2. Gathering Data: Visual Fieldwork in Japan
3. Ethics of Visual Research and Fieldwork in Japan
4. Ethnographic Photography
4. Documentaries, Video and the Ethnographic Film
5. Treatments and Study Guides: Planning and Practicing Visual Methods
6. Pre-Production, Production, Post-Production
7. Collaboration, Open Access, Creative Commons

Visual Anthropology of Japan

Dr. Steven C. Fedorowicz
In today’s world, it is widely held that global scale culture supercedes governments and political boundaries; economy is paramount. The contemporary buzz-word to explain this phenomenon is “globalization.” But what does this relatively new concept really entail? Globalization is about movement and interaction: people, culture, technology, goods and services, money, religion and ideologies are moving through porous borders causing immediate and intense contact. This cultural contact affects everyone in the global village albeit in vastly different ways. Globalization is an uneven process in terms of the spread of new technologies and communication. Where does Japan and Japanese culture fit within globalization? It is easy to see global influences inside of Japan: McDonald’s, Starbucks and fancy European brand names are everywhere. But Japanese culture has long been moving out and influencing other areas of the globe as well. This course will investigate globalization from an anthropological perspective focusing on the important and interesting movements and interactions between Japan and the rest of the world.

Topics include:
1. Culture, Culture Scale and Globalization
2. Modernization and Development
3. Global Influences into Japan
4. Japanese Influences into the Globe
5. Japanese Migration
6. Sushi and Japanese Cuisine
7. Fast Food in Japan
8. Japanese and American Baseball
9. Foreign Sumo Wrestlers
10. Hello Kitty and the Culture of Cuteness
11. Japanese Pop Culture: Movies, Music, Manga
12. Technology and Communication
13. International Language in Japan

Grading will be based on:
1. class participation and activities (30%)
2. midterm take-home exam (35%)
3. final take-home exam (35%)

With the approval of the instructor, a research paper may be substituted for the take-home exams.
The Japanese popular imagination has always been haunted by myriad monsters, ghost, demons, and goblins. Whether it was the trickster kitsune of ancient folklore, scenes of torment awaiting sinners in Buddhist Hell scrolls, or the shinigami of modern manga like Death Note, Japan’s many supernatural beings have always both frightened and entertained. But these are by no means the only two roles that such creatures have played in Japanese history. In this class we will study the many ways that monsters and ghosts have symbolized and personified the issues, problems, hopes and fears that have shaped modern Japan. We will begin by looking at the importance of the horrific and grotesque in the creation of Japanese popular culture in the 17th century. We will then discuss how 19th century Meiji modernizers created the scientific study of “monsterology” to debunk peasant superstition and to redirect supernatural belief toward a divine emperor. We will also examine how artists like Kawanabe Kyōsai, and writers such as Izumi Kyōka used monsters and ghosts to both resist and satirize modernization. We end the first half of the semester by looking at how the Western observer Lafcadio Hearn used Japanese ghost stories to feed a foreign appetite for images of a mysterious Orient.

Of course, this class will also examine modern uses of monsters and ghosts. We will begin the second half of the semester by examining how manga author Mizuki Shigeru used yōkai to help provide continuity with the past in a postwar Japan that had been torn from its traditions. We will discuss the political origins of Godzilla and read manga by authors such as Hino Hideshi and Umezō Kazuo who used horror to express their anxieties about the state of Japanese society in the 1960s, 70s and 80s. The course will finish with a look at recent Japanese TV and movie monsters from adult horror films like The Ring to popular children’s animation like Pokemon. Our main concerns will be what such media say about Japan today, and how their popularity abroad shapes foreign preceptions of the country. By the end of this course, you will have learned a great deal about Japanese monsters, myths and legends. You should also have a much deeper appreciation of Japanese history, society, media and culture.

Japanese Popular Media and Culture

This course focuses on three central elements of Japanese popular media—manga, anime, and television drama. However, a variety of other media—such as pop music, theatre and live-action film—will be discussed as they relate to these three main topics. The course will begin with a look at the historical development of manga and anime and their relationship with traditional Japanese popular culture. Next we will examine the rise of modern manga and anime in the postwar period by focusing on their development from works aimed primarily at children to thematically divers media that include mature works of social criticism. Of particular interest will be how these works both reflect and shape the debate over Japan’s postwar identity. We will then examine the means of production, distribution and consumption of manga and anime in Japan. Our attention will then turn to television dramas in Japan. We will examine their relationship with manga and anime while discussing how they deal with and influence a variety of current social issues. The course will finish with a look at the popularity of all three media (manga, anime and TV dramas) abroad and how they are influencing foreign understandings and attitudes about Japan.

Since the earliest days of cinema, Westerners filmmakers have used Japan as a mirror in which to reflect upon their own cultures. At times they have portrayed Japan as the model society that illuminates Western failures. At other times they have imagined the country as a corrupt world whose degenerate nature reinforces the superiority of Western values. Through it all has been a highly gendered narrative—Japan as the paradoxical land of ultra feminine geisha (soft, gentle and nurturing) and extremely masculine samurai and gangsters (cold, unyielding and dangerous). This course looks at how and why these contradictory images so easily coexist within the Western cinematic imagination. Of central concern is the way in which filmmakers have emphasized, exaggerated, distorted or ignored various aspects of Japanese culture to meet audience expectations, and the way in which images of Japan—constructed in response to specific historical events—have been recycled to justify or explain later situations. We will also consider how changes in class, gender and race relations in the West have influenced media images of the Japanese Other.

Mythology and manga, animism and anime: Shinto, the ancient religion of Japan, is still today an important part of the Japanese cultural imagination. Shinto is visible everywhere, and there are few Japanese people who do not have some contact with Shinto, many of them on a regular basis. Yet it is not easy to answer the question, What is Shinto? We will look at Shinto from as many perspectives as possible: religious, philosophical, anthropological, and political. However Shinto is defined, there is no doubt that Japan is the place to study Shinto. Thus students are encouraged to explore Shinto in today’s Japan as part of their work for the course.

Course Topics

- Shinto gods
- Inari, the fox deity
- Happy gods with a dark side: Ebisu and Daikoku-ten
- Shinto mythology
- Shamanism
- Monsters and the imagination
- Shinto conceptions of death
- Shrines and everyday life
- Shinto in popular culture: anime, manga, video games
- The Emperor: priest, god, rice deity, silkworm god
- Yasukuni Shrine: politics and soldier spirits
- Shinto priests: who are they and what do they do?
- Tokugawa Shinto philosophy
- Insects, divine and dangerous

Readings will include primary source material e.g., Shinto mythology and the writings of Shinto thinkers) and secondary articles of high scholarly quality.

While it is an undeniable fact that people die, the interpretation of death varies greatly from culture to culture. In this course, we will have a chance to explore the various meanings of death in Japan, China and Tibet. We will first consider the range of possible approaches to death and the afterlife (or non-afterlife): treatment of the corpse; funeral rituals; the destiny of the dead. Then we will look at East Asian attitudes toward death: Confucian, Taoist and Buddhist. What happens after death? Will we be reincarnated? Will we go to the Pure Land? Can we achieve immortality? Japan is an especially intriguing case, since the two major religious traditions, Buddhism and Shinto, have significantly different attitudes toward death. Focusing on Japan, we will study ancestor worship, funeral practices, cemeteries, ghosts, and mummies. The current Japanese attitudes toward abortion, brain death and organ transplants will be discussed.

The course takes a multidisciplinary approach, we will read a short Japanese novel and watch one film.

Readings
Readings include: portions of Confucian and Buddhist texts; Tibetan Book of the Dead; ghost stories; scholarly articles on funeral practices, cemeteries, the denial of death, and mortuary symbolism.

The Intersection of Fantasy and Real Life in Modern Japanese Fiction

Dr. Paul Berry

A major feature of modern literature in Japan is the tension between the representation of real life and fantasy. Although these aspects can be seen as polar opposites, writers in Japan will often deploy their plots to examine basic life issues whether writing about mundane aspects of daily life or detailing elaborate fantasies. This course will examine the issues raised in a variety of novels by authors in the last few decades. The key literary themes include questions of identity, sexuality, environment, social change, individual responsibility, and the contrast/fusion of pure vs. popular fiction. Many of the novels are recent translations of current fiction. The course does not assume a prior background in Japanese literature.

Due to its widespread popularity, manga has become an internationally recognized and often admired aspect of contemporary Japanese culture. Nonetheless, the translation of manga into a variety of foreign languages has focused on those written for an early teenage audience. The deeper history of manga, its complexity, the broad diversity of themes intended for an adult audience is still largely unknown outside of Japan. This course approaches manga as a form of graphic fiction parallel to the literary fiction (shosetsu) of Japan. Lectures cover many aspects from history, thematic diversity, audience reception, publishing industry, visual analysis and interpretation, continuities of theme and image, and new trends. A combination of critical readings, discussion of selected manga, and analysis of imagery will be employed in class. A large number of works and artists that have yet to be translated into foreign languages will be introduced alongside world famous examples.

Japanese Cinema 1949-1987

Dr. Paul Berry

Regularly winning awards at film festivals, Japanese cinema may be the most internationally popular aspect of modern Japan culture. This course explores Japanese cinema through an examination of eleven noted films by eight directors. The themes and issues of the films include quests for the meaning of life, modernized Kabuki drama, conflict among generations, censorship of sexual scenes, satiric comedies, and science fiction animation. In several cases comparisons will be made between the original text and the film version. The social significance and relation to national and international film history will be discussed. Lectures will introduce the background of the director, the circumstances of the making of the film and its historical setting, and the relation of the film to other Japanese and foreign films.

This course does not assume a background in film studies and is open to students at all levels.

Film list:
Kurosawa, Stray Dog (Nora inu, 1949)
Kurosawa, Ikiru (1952)
Mizoguchi, Ugetsu Monogatari (1953)
Ozu, Tokyo Story (Tokyo monogatari, 1956)
Nakahira Ko (中平 康 1926-1978) Crazed Fruit 狂るった果実 1956
Oshima, Graveyard of the Sun (Taiyo no hakaba, 1960)

Japanese Art in the Kansai Area

Prof. Karin Swanson

The Kansai area, which includes Osaka, Kyoto and Nara has for the majority of Japanese history, been the center of Japanese art production. Beginning with the art found in tomb mounds of 4th century leaders, the area’s dominance continued with only minor interruptions until power and patronage shifted to Tokyo during the Edo period (1615-1868).

This is an introductory-level course designed to maximize the experience of looking at Kansai area art, much of which can still be seen in the original locations. Focusing on locally-produced painting and sculpture from the 4th through the 19th centuries, the class will consist of presented lectures with slides. There will be field trips during the semester to sites studied in the class.

Course Topics
The following themes, which reflect the dominance of Buddhist art in this area, will be presented in chronological order:
- Tomb and burial-centered art
- Early Buddhist art
- Esoteric Buddhist art
- Pure land Buddhist art
- Secular arts of the Heian period
- Zen art of the early feudal period
- Momoyama and early Edo period castle-centered art
- Edo painting

Readings
The majority of reading assignments will be from the following books, on reserve in the library:
- Paine and Soper, Art and Architecture of Japan.
- Various authors, Heibonsha Survey of Japanese Art.
- Akiyama Terukazu et al, Genshoku Nihon Bijutsu Series.
- James Cahill, Chinese Painting.
- Dale Saunders, Mudra.

Who we are, how our minds work, how we behave, and how we communicate is very culturally influenced. Cross-cultural interactions easily become problematic without understanding the cultural aspects of the people involved. This course examines how humans are psychologically culturally influenced and cultural factors that are important in various kinds of cross-cultural relationships. Both Western and Asian ways of how to resolve problems that can arise are studied. Particular attention is given to the application of the psychology of peace to the transformation of cross-cultural conflict. Students are expected to participate in both self-examination and cross-cultural relationship situations. Learning how one is cultural and being willing to participate in relational dynamics is basic to this course.

Course Topics
Self and identity: Collective or Individual? We-self or I-self?
Cross-cultural research in values
Cross-cultural cognitive research
Cross-cultural communication styles
Cross-cultural relationship styles
Cross-cultural negotiations
Cross-cultural conflict transformation – Western and Asian styles

Mind and Body in Yoga, Buddhism, and Daoism

Dr. Reginald Pawle

This course is a study of how mind and body are engaged in the practices of yoga, Buddhism, and Daoism, and the applications of these ways of engagement in modern life and psychology. The aim is both to understand the theories and experience the practices. This course focuses on the ways of self-cultivation in these three Asian religions. Particular attention is given to the mind-body dynamic. The functions of mind that are developed, how the body is trained, the understanding of mental illness and mental health, and how to cultivate a fully alive person all are examined in yoga, Buddhist, and Daoist practices. Each class will be a combination of study and practices, so students need to be willing to participate in exercises in each class. Experiential exercises will include yoga practices, Buddhist meditation practice, Chi Gung exercises, Zen koan practice, mandala drawing, Morita exercises, Naikan exercises, breathing practices, martial art practices, and sensory awareness practice.

Course Topics
Yoga, Buddhist, and Daoist practices
Self-cultivation practices
Historical practitioners
Traditional texts
Modern psychotherapeutic applications
Mental illness and mental health
Jung and Eastern practices
Body and breath practices
Martial art practices
Energy practices

Basic Ceramic Techniques

Mr. Yoshio Inomata

The object of this course is to establish a basic mastery of traditional Japanese techniques through actual practice, with the emphasis on wheel throwing. The course will also include, from time to time, a consideration of distinctive regional techniques, and the special characteristics of some modern Japanese pottery, presented in the context of studio practice.

A practice fee of ¥10,000 per semester, payable in advance, will be charged to all students accepted for enrollment in the course. Enrollment will be limited to 35 students. This course requires 8 hours studio practice per week, and it will be arranged around your other classes.

Recommended Reading:

Penny Simpson, Japanese Pottery Handbook

In addition, a number of illustrated volumes in Japanese and English will be put on non-circulating reserve in the library, for general reference.

Course Procedures:

Instruction will begin with clay wedging and proceed to building and slab construction, and the basic throwing techniques for cups and bowls. Various glaze compositions and glazing methods will be introduced at an appropriate point along with a consideration of certain decorative devices such as stamping, inlay and brushwork.

Evaluation:

Grades will be based on the level of technical skill achieved during the semester, and on the quality of finished pieces submitted for possible inclusion in a final exhibition of student works. This overall rating of technical proficiency will constitute sixty percent of the final grade. Regular attendance is regarded as essential, and more than ten percent absence could result in a failing grade. Attendance will count for twenty percent of the final grade. The final twenty percent will be a rating of student effort and participation.
Note:

Payment of materials fee must be completed before registration. Otherwise you cannot be enrolled in the course nor permitted to attend the class.

In case of dropping the course, the refund of the materials fee will be based upon the following schedule:

1) During orientation 100%
2) During the first week 90%
3) During the second week 80%
4) During the third week 70%
5) After the third week 0%
Intermediate Ceramic Techniques

Mr. Yoshio Inomata

The objective of this course is to advance the techniques mastered in the "Basic Ceramic Techniques". Main items to master in this course include: various sets of ceramics works (i.e. multiples of same-sized works), large pots, large dishes, large bowls, and so on. Students in this class will also pursue decorative techniques introduced in the previous semester, and try to combine them.

The schedule of studio practice will be the same as "Basic Ceramic Techniques".

Students eligible to apply to take this class are: 1) those who have finished "Basic Ceramic Techniques" at Kansai Gaidai, or 2) those who have more than one year experience with ceramics. (See the instructor before registration, as he gives permission based upon the student's skill with the potter's wheel.)

Material Fee: ¥10,000
Advanced Ceramic Techniques

Mr. Yoshio Inomata

The objective of this course is to perfect the technique which is the most suitable for each student. The course also gives students the opportunity to mix glazes as well as to work on their original techniques.

The schedule of studio practice will be the same as "Basic Ceramic Techniques".

In order to apply to take this course, students must obtain permission from the instructor. They must have finished "Intermediate Ceramic Techniques" at Kansai Gaidai, or have more than two-year experience with ceramic. (See the instructor before registration in order to obtain permission. His judgment is based upon the ceramic techniques and the basic knowledge of ceramics.)

Material Fee: ¥10,000.-
Manga Drawing A/B

Ms. Bon-Won Koo

In this studio course, students will be taught to draw and produce manga, the Japanese comics. The typical tools for manga - pen, inks, manga-papers and screen-tones will be used to draw illustrations or whole manga stories in black and white. In the first lessons, students will learn how to use the tools by drawing characters, illustrations and one-page manga. The latter half of the semester will be used to produce one or more manga-booklet/s (J., doujinshi) which will include the students’ manga works. These works will be also presented in the exhibition at the end of the semester.

This course will meet twice per week and each meeting will include a theoretical component as well as a practical component. Students will also work on their manga outside of the classroom.

No prior experience in drawing is required but students should possess an ability to concentrate on their work, participate actively and practice in a disciplined manner. The most important quality for prospective students is the motivation to draw, to have fun while drawing and to enjoy showing off your silliest, most extravagant, or even secret ideas in the form of manga.

Notes:

● No prior drawing experience is required.

● As with all studio courses, attendance, participation and creation are mandatory.

● Class enrollment is limited to 15 students.

● Payment of the ¥10,000 materials fee must be completed before registration. Since students will choose their favorite screen-tones, these items are not included and will be selected by each student.

In case of dropping the course, the refund of the materials fee will be based upon the following schedule:

1) During orientation 100%
2) During the first week 90%
3) During the second week 80%
4) During the third week 70%
5) After the third week 0%
