

Japanese Music

Semester 1 2019

Mondays & Thursdays period 3

INSTRUCTOR: Philip Flavin, Ph.D.

EMAIL: philipflavin@hotmail.com

OFFICE HOURS: Thursdays 12:00-1:00 #704

Course Information:

This class is an introductory survey of Japanese music. Beginning with gagaku, music of the early imperial court, the class will cover the major genres of Japanese music and end with students presentations exploring any of the musical forms covered in class to J-pop. The primary aim is for the students to develop a familiarity with the various musical genres, the musical instruments, and the structures of each genre through listening exercises. Other themes to be explored throughout the semester with secondary readings are the relationship of musical genre with social class, the continuing dialectic between high culture and low, and the classicisation of popular musical genres:

Requirements:

- Prerequisites: none
- Required texts: none. All readings will be handed out in class
- Listening: The listening assignments will be available at: <https://drive.google.com>. The user name is japanesemusic_kansai-gaidai@yahoo.com. Access to the site will require my inviting you. On the first day of class, I will therefore ask you for you e-mail addresses. As you are all aware, there are most likely copyright issues with this arrangement; however, for the present time, please bear with me until a less questionable form of accessing these files is possible.
- Written assignments: These are exercises indicated in the syllabus.
- Presentation: Please refer to presentation guide provided in the syllabus.
- Final exam: To be determined.

Additional Information: Classroom Policies

1. Attendance will be taken. It is to your benefit to attend and participate in all classes.
2. Discussion is an integral part of this class. If students do not participate or come to class not having read that week's materials in preparation to participate, their evaluation will reflect this.
3. Let me know if there is an emergency that prevents you from attending class.
4. Electronic devices of any sort are not permitted.
5. Neither food nor drink is permitted in the classroom.
6. Sleeping is not permitted in class and students will be marked as absent.
7. Plagiarism, cheating, or helping other to cheat is not tolerated. Plagiarism is defined as misrepresenting the work of others as your own. Any information of any sort—facts, statistics, quotations, or paraphrasing—must be cited. Any instance of plagiarism will result in a failing grade.

❖ Make-up policy: If you are absent and wish to make up an assignment, it is your responsibility to contact me and make arrangements.

Final Presentation/Paper Guide

The purpose of the presentation/paper is to allow you to explore areas of Japanese music that stimulate and interest you, to delve into areas that have not been covered in class. The given topic of J-pop should not be taken as the only subject you are allowed to explore—explore anything and everything that excites your interest. The only requirement is that the research topic be music and has something to do with Japan.

If you wish, these presentations/papers may be joint or group efforts.

There are two distinct aspects to this project: the presentation and the ensuing paper. The presentation is to be an informal exposé in which you present your findings to the class as a whole. The duration of the presentation will follow academic conference standards, and is to be twenty minutes per person followed by ten-minute questions and answers period. Think of the presentation as a lecture, a performance, a moment for you to speak directly to your colleagues about your work. Expect discussion. You may either read your paper, or refer to notes, or handouts. You are also welcome to use Powerpoint slides and the audio-visual facilities available in the classrooms to illustrate points made in the paper. Should you have materials you wish to distribute to the class, please provide me with a copy the previous class session so that I may make copies.

The paper is separate from the presentation and is to be a formal written exercise with citations, footnotes, and bibliography. Please follow the Chicago Manual of Style for formatting. The length should be approximately 12 pages double-spaced, which is roughly 3000 words in 12 point font.

In your presentation/paper, you are to identify and discuss an issue that interests you about the music you have selected. If, for example, you have decided to examine Japanese enka, you must have something to say beyond, “it’s cheesy!” or “those dresses Kobayashi Sachiko wears for the Kōhaku uta gassen are so cool!” There are any number of different, simultaneously occurring aspects of enka that can be used to make this music relevant and interesting to even those, such as myself, who find it trying at best. What is being promoted through enka? Why do the majority of performers wear kimono? Why do so many enka texts dwell on the concept of furusato or drinking alone in shabby bars? If you should decide on J-pop, or jazz in Japan, a similar list of stimulating issues exists: for example, Japanese pop has undeniably influenced other East Asian popular musics. Is this good? Is this bad? Why is it important? Japanese jazz: is it derivative? Or is it a form of jazz distinct to Japan that conforms to a different aesthetic than American jazz? What does this say about music and migration? There is no limit to what you can explore in your project. Draw upon your experience in other classes to enrich your work.

You are encouraged and expected to turn to secondary sources for guidance and background information. You may not base your argument on the work of others. If you agree with another scholar’s opinion, by all means say so, and there is nothing wrong per se, but how does your work further the earlier scholar’s work? As mentioned above, any references or citations must be properly included in the body of the work following the Chicago Manual of Style guidelines. This is also true of on-line sources, which must be cited in your bibliography. Please be aware that not all on-line sources are reliable or exemplary scholarship.

The date of the presentations is indicated in the syllabus. The papers are due on the day of the final examination.

Schedule

Please note: this is subject to change.

All readings and assignments should be completed by the date under which they appear.

The date of the final examination has yet to be announced.
